PROJECTS

Project 1: Food Recipe App A mobile application developed using JAVA and ANDROID STUDIO, designed to provide users with a comprehensive platform for discovering, exploring, and following a variety of recipes. I was responsible for developing the user interface, integrating search functionality, and implementing features.

Project 2: Stock Market Analysis The primary goal of stock market analysis is to evaluate and forecast the performance of stocks, enabling investors, traders, and analysts to make informed decisions regarding buying, selling, or holding assets. We have made this using PYTHON and STREAMLIT. I contributed to building an interactive dashboard using Streamlit, allowing users to explore and analyze stock trends in real-time.
